My Dear Dr Engelmann,

I had a very nice note from you some time since, and I thank you sincerely for paying so much attention to so trivial a correspondent.

Since then I have sent you by mail as you requested an Itinerary of our joint journey westward - no. and shall soon send the few statistics you desire.

Two or three days since I sent you a copy of "A Memoir of Dr.
Jacob Bigelow M.D. &c
As you know Dr B was a very distinguished man not only in his own special calling, but in many other ways, whereby in a long and useful life he produced and provided for the people of the United States many inventions of great and permanent value both in the arts and sciences. I thought you might like to see this and so put it you. Sargent is well busy as usual and has gone to Washington with Madame for 10 days or so.
Hoping this will find you well Believe me
Yours sincerely
James Thurman

a Rose
(sent to Dr. Eng.)

In these pleasant

days of holiday preparations and of prospective gratification of young and old, my thoughts often go back to my sempre-terens friend in St. Louis and I do not mean to let these days go by me without sending seen made too, I should have no more regretted it as I should think my own grounds so much my own a stormy prospect I shall have more time.

you my best congratulations and best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year - and many returns of the same.

You have here vividly brought to my mind recently as I have been collating your botanical notes & letters for the benefit of C. S. S.'s final Catalogue of the Trees of the U. S. so that in memory I have many times seen the enthusiastic botanist either shining on the flanks of Mt Shasta, or brooding and contending with that centrifuge

My Dear Dr Engelmann.

Much obliged for your kind and very amusing note.
The Professor has read it and though he does not acknowledge <sup>it,</sup> (he never does acknowledge anything contrary to his own ideas of doing anything), I think in his heart he thinks better of his 5 minute programme through that wonderful section, region, division, structure, you like, we all passed (scarcely more than that) over together. He is well, hearty, and the most condensed labours including his penmanship I have ever seen.

being to make it complete. Perhaps in order to make the two series tally I had best recel you a copy of what I have recorded in order that you may know that is missing in the records of that memorable trip. It will be a pleasure to me to do so, and as I write.

Try do not think I am saying anything of this kind to encroach on your valuable time. It is only done in order at your leisure in any way both make our records tally and be as full as possible.

I trust this will find you in excellent health and examining the specimens of Parrot,

Other than to give my thanks for so kind and pleasant a letter from one whose time is so full, I have another object in writing you.

My diary, such as it is with <sup>of botanical</sup> such notes as I had with me, has long been written up, and I am under the impression I sent you ~~more than~~ <sup>about</sup> a year since copies of such measurements as I understood you at that time desired.

But I have discovered since through your correspondence with the Herbarium Professor that you have found certain missing measurements about Silver Beak, Shasta, the Big Tree & Lantau Pitua which should be inserted in the

With all good wishes for the New Year and many years to come.
